GROUP RESIGNS IN PROTESTING PETTICOAT RULE

James Aumen Steps Out As Manager Of Boys' Band And Others Follow.

WILL TURN OVER MONEY TO OTHERS

The advisory committee of the Gettysburg Boys' band resigned in a body at a meeting, Monday evening, in protest, members said, against the so-called "petticoat rule" of the band by the women's auxiliary.

After the board members tendered their resignation, they announced they are ready to turn over to a new board or to the women's auxiliary all money, equipment and records as soon as an organization is effected.

The board went on record to support the band at all times as individuals, but to sever all official connection with the town's most promising musical organization.

Too Dictatorial

According to members of the board, the auxiliary was assuming too much authority and becoming too dictatorial in matters concerning the bond.

The board's action was prompted by the resignation of James B. Aumen as manager. As soon as his resignation was presented, six of the seven members of the board, present at the session, tendered their resignations.

Besides Mr. Aumen, those at the meeting included A. B. Plank, president; C. M. Wolf, treasurer; C. Ray Rupp, secretary; D. C. Stallsmith and C. B. Dougherty. Simon Redding, another member of the board, was not present at the meeting, but it was understood that he would tender his resignation along with the others.

Sorry About Action

Mrs. W. Preston Hull, Chambersburg street, president of the auxiliary, first learned of the board's action this morning from The Gettysburg Times. She said she was both surprised and sorry to learn of the resignations.

"I was not present at the last meeting of the auxiliary," she said, "and I am not entirely familiar with what action was taken at that session. I understand the members of the auxiliary decided to ask the advisory board what was being done about altering uniforms of band members, why the boys were not attending rehearsals and what was being done about the Boys' band participation in Memorial Day exercises here."

Mrs. Hull said she felt sure the auxiliary meant to assume no authority from the advisory board nor to dictate its action or policies.

Have Audit Committee

The advisory board named a committee of three residents of Gettysburg, not connected in any way with the band, to audit the accounts of the treasurer and report

VIEWERS HEAR DAMAGE CASE

Winebrenner Demands Aired Again Before Local Group.

Exceptions were filed by attorneys for the borough of Hanover and D. E. Winebrenner, Jr., Hanover canner, with the Adams county board of viewers at the court house this morning when the viewers exhibited a schedule awarding Winebrenner $8,506.40 damages for the taking of certain farm land in Conewago township for the construction of Hanover's new sewage disposal plant and an outfall sewer line.

Attorneys Keith and Sheely, representing Winebrenner, took exception to the damages on the ground that they are insufficient and inadequate. Attorney J. Donald Swope, Gettysburg, and Attorney T. F. Chrostwaite, Hanover, representing Hanover, protested on the ground that the damages were excessive.

Schedule of Damages

The schedule of damages was presented by Attorney R. E. Wible and P. S. Orner, both on the board of viewers.

No further testimony will be taken, although the viewers may change the award before their report is filed in court, provided notice of the change is given to all parties concerned.

Any appeal to the award must be taken after the viewers' report is filed in court, it was stated.

NAME DR. ARMS PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE BODY

C. E. Bilheimer Re-elected Secretary-Treasurer In Lancaster.

ADVANCE PLAN OF TEAMS' PLAYING

Dr. R. A. Arms, Gettysburg college, was elected president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Athletic association at its annual meeting in Lancaster Monday. He succeeds Dean Howard R. Omwake, Franklin and Marshall college. C. E. Bilheimer, Gettysburg college, was re-elected secretary and treasurer of the organization.

Prof. W. H. Hitcher, Dickinson, was elected vice president, to succeed W. W. Bancroft, Ursinus.

One suggestion offered by C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director, Gettysburg college, prohibits college athletes from competing with clubs during the school term, but would permit them to play with private clubs during vacations, recesses or holidays. The suggestion won immediate attention of the college representatives.

Bilheimer's Plan

The plan does not make any reference to the payment of money for athletic services. It reads as follows:

"College students, who during term time participate in athletics in connection with athletic clubs, shall be debarred from participation in intercollegiate sports, in which they illegally participate. Participation in connection with athletic clubs during summer vacation, Christmas or spring recess shall not disqualify, provided permission is secured in advance from the athletic administrative officer of the institution concerned."

The association named a committee to plan for awarding championships in football, baseball, tennis and basketball. At present the association awards a championship only in cross-country runs.

Name Committee

The committee composed of H. H. Beck, of Franklin and Marshall; A. C. H. Fasig, of Muhlenberg, and J. W. Clawson, of Ursinus, will report the result of their investigation at the meeting in December.

The delegates present were: Dr. J. W. Clawson and W. W. Bancroft, retiring graduate manager, and R. C. Johnson, newly appointed graduate manager at Ursinus; A. C. Fasig and G. H. Allferbach, graduate manager at Muhlenberg; Dr. W. H. Norcross and W. H. Hitchler, of Dickinson; C. E. Bilheimer, athletic director, and Dr. T. L. Kline, of Gettysburg; H. H. Beck and Dean Howard R. Omwake, of Franklin and Marshall.

Changed Date But Not State Name; Costs Him Fine

Bernard Stouter, of near Emmitsburg, evidently thinks that paying motor vehicle license once in a lifetime is sufficient, so he is charged with having converted his 1925 license into a 1930 one by changing the 25 to 30. The 1925 license colors were green, the same as the 1930 license, only the background had white lettering and the word "Maryland" should have been on the top of the tag instead of at the bottom. However, Deputy Sheriff Adelsberger noted the difference and young Stouter's arrest immediately followed. Stouter was escorted before Justice of the Peace Stokes and had the consolation of hearing the justice say: "Twenty-five and costs."

Clark's Body Returned Home For Burial; Others Improving

An inquest into the death of Kenneth R. Clark, 20-year-old Mont Alto forestry school student, who was fatally injured in a collision of a motorcycle and an automobile on the Lincoln Highway, west of Cashtown, Sunday afternoon, will be held later in the week, Dr. Edgar A. Miller, Adams county coroner, announced today.

Clark died at the Warner hospital, Monday afternoon, from loss of blood, shock and probable internal injuries.

Clark's parents arrived in Gettysburg about noon, Monday from their home near Pitcairn, and later in the day they took their son's body to Pitcairn for burial. Besides his parents, Clark is survived by one brother.

The victim of the accident was a first year student at the forestry school. He was graduated from the Pitcairn high school a year ago.

Others Improved

He was operating a motorcycle with Charles Carl, of Kingston, a fellow-student, riding tandem, when the machine struck the touring car of Benjamin F. Redding, 38, of Littlestown. Redding sustained a punctured lung, and is in a serious condition at the Warner hospital. Carl was reported resting more comfortably today from a compound fracture of the left leg. Louise Redding, 10-year-old daughter of Redding, was discharged from the hospital. Redding's wife and seven other children escaped injury.

On the coroner's jury are Luther C. Deatrick, P. C. Stock, A. S. Mills, George Patterson, William Rottler and C. R. Wolff.

ARMY STAR TO BE DISMISSED

Marriage, Kept Secret Two Years, Revealed In New Orleans.

West Point, May 13 (AP).—Immediate dismissal of Christian K. Cagle from the military academy was forecast today by army officials following news dispatches revealing the captain's marriage nearly two years ago in direct violation of regulations.

New Orleans, May 13 (AP).—Records in the Gretna court show that Christian Cagle and Miss Marian Hale, of New Roads, Loufsiana, were married on August 25, 1928.

The marriage was performed by George J. Traugh, justice of the peace.

Each gave their age as 23 years. Mrs. Cagle left yesterday on a visit to New York.

The announcement of the marriage, kept secret for two years, surprised relatives of Cagle who met Miss Hale four years ago, while she was a student at Southwestern university, at Lafayette, and it was there the romance had its start.

DIES AFTER HE STAYS AS NIGHT GUEST

Stove Salesman Is Seized With Attack While Stopping At Farm.

DOCTOR'S EFFORT FOR HIM FAILS

Apparently well Monday night when he retired, Walter M. Reynolds, 42, New Castle, Virginia, aroused his hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore James, near Littlestown, at 1 o'clock this morning, telling them he had become very ill. Dr. D. B. Coover, Littlestown, was summoned, but Reynolds died shortly afterward from a heart attack.

Reynolds, who is a salesman for the Wrought Iron Stove company, St. Louis, is well known in this section, making periodic trips to this district to market his stoves. He visited his customers in a horse-drawn buggy as he had done for years.

Stopped For Night

Monday night when he had completed his calls in the neighborhood of Littlestown and night fell, he stopped at the James farmhouse for supper and was invited to remain for the night. He retired at 10 o'clock and seemed to be in the best of health.

Early today, James heard Reynolds calling from his room and when he investigated found him complaining of feeling very ill. Unable to help him, he called Doctor Coover, who tried to alleviate his suffering without success. No arrangements will be made for his funeral until members of his family have been heard from, it was said at Littlestown today.

FIRE DAMAGES COUNTY WOODS

Pigeon Hills Threatened By Blaze But It Is Extinguished.

A fire of unknown origin broke out in the Pigeon Hills on Saturday afternoon. The fire was first discovered by woodcutters some distance away at 12.15 p. m. The fire started near the site of the saw mill of G. V. Miller, Grand Valley, who is now sawing out the Witmer woodlots.

Fire Warden M. E. Jacobs, of Adams county appointed Joseph Zinn, Green Springs, fire chief in charge. Between fifty and sixty men fought the fire and by 3:30 they had it under control. However, twelve of the fighters with Mr. Zinn stood guard for further outbreaks until Sunday morning.

Dryness Hinders

The dryness of the forest and the high wind made the fire difficult to control and about midnight Saturday it became necessary to haul water in barrels from the Bethlehem mines to the scene of the fire.

The blaze spread over approximately two or three acres of woodland, destroying a number of woodlots recently purchased at a sale held by G. V. Miller. A number of cords of wood on the woodlots of Jacob Newman, Hanover, C. R. Nace and Cletus Hull, of Green Springs, were destroyed by the fire. The fire fighters were able to extinguish the fire early Sunday morning.

Worker Ground to Death Under Wheels of Train Near Littlestown Monday

Dr. Miller, County Coroner, Pronounces Death Accidental, Declaring Victim Was Trespassing; Does Not Know Of Any Suicidal Threats.

OCCURS ON CURVE WHERE VIEW OF TRAIN ENGINEER IS OBSCURED

Virtually ground to pieces beneath the wheels of a Pennsylvania railroad train at Lefever's crossing near Littlestown, Sylvester Welsh, 64-year-old resident of Union township, was killed instantly, late Monday afternoon.

When his body was removed from under the train by members of the train crew after the accident, it was found both legs had been severed above the knees, his torso split, and his skull crushed. The train which killed Welsh was due in Littlestown at 5:13 o'clock.

Says Death Was Accidental

Dr. E. A. Miller, Adams county coroner, said today death was accidental. Welsh is believed to have sat down on the tracks to rest while taking a short cut to his home. A basket of groceries that he had been carrying was found nearby the spot where he was killed.

The vision of both the engineer and Welsh was obscured at the place when the tragedy occurred by a curve, and when the engineer, Jesse Atkinson, rounded the curve, it was too late to bring the train to a halt, or for Welsh to jump to safety, according to investigators.

Friends Suspect Intent

Reports that the accident might have been due to Welsh's desire to end his own life were scouted by the authorities today. He is reported to have bid his friends goodbye last week, indicating it was said, in Littlestown, that he intended to make an attempt to commit suicide.

He is asserted to have told a Littlestown grocer Saturday that he would not "see him again." He is also alleged to have asked a neighbor to lend him his shotgun, saying at the time, according to reports from Littlestown, that he "had a notion to work himself out of the way."

Added to this, it was reported that the groceries were found lying some distance from the tracks underneath a tree, while the grass in the immediate vicinity was crushed down as though someone had been lying on it.

No Inquest

Doctor Miller said today no inquest will be held into the accident. Welsh was employed as a day laborer, working on farms near Littlestown. He is survived by his wife, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Rider, Littlestown. No funeral arrangements have been announced.

Lieut. H. B. Morrison, Pennsylvania railroad, police, investigated the accident. Dr. C. G. Crist was summoned to the scene of the accident, and pronounced Welsh dead.

Doctor Miller stated late today that Welsh was trespassing on the railroad and that his investigation revealed that he had been drinking. He could not verify reports that Welsh had threatened to take his own life and was unable to say whether or not death was the result of a suicidal attempt.

DR. WIRT TELLS LIONS OF FIRES

Says Losses This Year Will Undo Work Of More Than Decade.

Dr. George H. Wirt, chief of the bureau of protection, state department of forests and waters, urged members of the Gettysburg Lions' club at their weekly dinner meeting at Graeffenburg Inn, Monday evening, to consider themselves volunteer fire fighters in forest conflagrations.

He said it was the duty of every person in the state, who makes use of Pennsylvania's forests for hunting, fishing or pleasure, to constitute himself a deputy forest warden and help protect the woods not only against incendiary fires but against those started through negligence and carelessness.

Tells of Losses

Dr. Wirt, who directed the efforts of fire fighters during the recent conflagrations in the South Mountains, pointed out that between 1915 and 1929 losses from forest fires in Pennsylvania decreased steadily.

So far this spring, however, losses described as "terrific" have been sustained by the state through fires, most of which were of incendiary origin, the speaker said. Dr. Wirt estimated that 115,000 acres were burned over in Pennsylvania this spring.

He pointed out that in New Jersey, where about 50,000 acres of timberland were burned over recently, the legislature will be asked to tighten the laws regarding punishment for persons setting fire to woodland.

Rotary Speaker Suggests Shaft As Memorial to Lincoln Here

Describing a Gettysburg with a flower-bedecked battlefield and statues of Union general who fought in the battle of Gettysburg beside every main highway leading into the borough, Charles Pearson, publicity director of the state highway department climaxed his address to the Gettysburg Rotary club Monday night with the suggestion that a memorial to Abraham Lincoln that can be "seen for miles" be erected in center square.

He told the Rotarians that the United States government would pay the cost of the monument and that one as large as the Washington monument in the national capital should be erected. He said a shaft similar to that would be a fitting tribute to the Civil War president.

He also suggested that life-sized statues, equestrian or otherwise, of the generals who fought in the three days' battle here, be placed one on each side of the leading highways into the town. He said that the government's aid could also be enlisted in such a project.

The suggestion that flowers be planted on the stretches of the battlefield was followed by the information that the national department of agriculture would supply free of charge all the seeds that would be needed to carry forward such a project.

The meeting, well attended, was held at the Eagle hotel, President John Lippy, presiding.

COLLEGE CLUB SCORES HIT

"Two Girls Wanted" One Of Best Productions Of Present Year.

"Two Girls Wanted", a play with six scenes presented at the Eddie Plank Memorial gymnasium Monday night, by the Owl and Nightingale club of Gettysburg college, proved to be one of the best plays presented by the college organization this year.

The characterizations of Margaret Smith, as Marianna Miller, the heroine, and of Stewart Herman, as Dexter Wright, the hero, were especially good, while the rest of the cast measured up to the standard set by the two leading players.

The plot was laid around the attempts of one business to force another out of the field by merging, the plan being frustrated by Marianna Miller and her sister, Sarah Miller, played by Jean Thomas, who posed as servants to obtain admission into the house where most of the action took place. They answered the advertisement which gave the play its name to get the jobs.

Paul and Lloyd Waner, the Pittsburgh "Poison" boys, were born in Harrah, Oklahoma.

ORIGINAL STORY IS READ TO CLUB

Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars Is Guest Speaker At Mothers' Meeting.

An original story woven around the scene of the Bach festival at Bethlehem several years ago was read by Mrs. Elsie Singmaster Lewars, Gettysburg author, as a feature of the program at a meeting of the Gettysburg Mothers' club, Monday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Carrie Pretz, Buford avenue. Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefauver and Mrs. Roy E. Zinn were associate hostesses.

Other features of the program, planned by Mrs. Edmund W. Thomas and Mrs. Mark K. Eckert, in observance of National Music Week, were the reading of the words of a hymn for mothers by Mrs. Kenderton J. Lynch; piano solos, by Mrs. S. F. Snyder! incidents from the life of Rubenstine, by Mrs. Thomas, and a vocal solo, "Thou Art So Like A Flower", by Mrs. Zinn, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Eleanore Zinn, and a vocal duet, "The Wanderers' Night Song" by Mrs. Eckert and Mrs. Keefauver, with Mrs. Pretz at the piano. As a closing number the club sang a spring song, the words of which were written to "Melody in F" by Rubenstine.

The annual business meeting and banquet of the club will be held May 26 at a place to be announced later. Mrs. Herbert L. Grimm has been named chairman of a committee on arrangements for the affair.

Mrs. Eugene Craighead, vice president, presided.

Re-arrest Pair For Failing To Pay Fines

Wilbur Flemming and Owen Eyler, both of Fountain Dale, who were fined $100 each several weeks ago on charges of dynamiting a stream for fish, were arrested Monday by Trooper E. J. Walsh and Constable George Aughinbaugh for failing to pay the fines. The pair was committed to the Adams county jail.

Although Flemming and Eyler admitted their guilt when previously arraigned, they now deny that the alleged charge was committed in Pennsylvania, maintaining that it occurred in Maryland.

Pending disposition of their cases, Wednesday, the pair will remain in jail.

Senate To Examine Experts On Treaty

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The London naval treaty was laid before the Senate Foreign Relations committee Monday by Secretary of State Stimson, with the declaration that it represented a "fair agreement" and parity between the British and American fleets.

Speaking uninterruptedly before the commbitte for an hour and a half, the secretary finally pounded the table and challenged a strict comparison of the strength of the navies of Great Britain and America under the past.

The committe took the challenge. After a brief executive session, Chairman Borah announced it would call in the General Board of the Navy as well as Secretary Adams, Admiral William V. Pratt and Rear Admiral Hiliary P. Jones, the naval advisers at London.

ROBERT MILLER WEAKER

Delay Quiz Until After Vote Is Over

Washington, May 13.—The Senate committee investigating campaign expenditures has decided to begin hearings as soon as possible in Illinois pertinent to the primary election in which Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick defeated Senator Deneen for the Republican senatorial nomination.

The committee, believing it could not escape being "used," also reached the conclusion Monday not to hold hearings in Pennsylvania until after the primary election.

Senator Nye, chairman of the committee, returned Monday from Chicago, called a meeting of the committee at once and issued a statement following the three-hour session in which he said of the Illinois situation:

"It is fair to say there is information such as to indicate that much more was spent in behalf of the candidates than was accounted for in their individual statements to the committee."

STOCK REPORT

New York, May 13 (AP).—Efforts were made to lift the stock market out of its narrow trading rut with the oil shares providing speculative fuel. Trading during the first hour was the dullest in several weeks with only a few issues showing activity but after midday a strong buying in the petroleum issues began to drag the issues upward and later they were joined by the utilities and the steels.

Last Wednesday the pain returned and he repeated the operation, removing more of the appendix. But his suffering increased and he finally went to a hospital, where spysicians could not save his life.

to the new board. The auditing committee comprises C. A. Bixler, Ross R. Myers and Arthur E. Roth.

A. B. Plank, president of the advisory board, said he had no statement to make in connection with the board's action.

James B. Aumen, who resigned as manager, pointed out what the advisory board has done for the band since the board took over management of the musical organization on September 13, 1927.

"When the advisory board took over active management of the band," Mr. Aumen said, "the band was $600 in debt, the boys were poorly uniformed and it was headed for the rocks. The board immediately staged a bazaar and wiped out the debt. Since the board has been functioning new uniforms were purchased through the generosity of public-spirited residents of Gettysburg. Sixty-seven uniforms were purchased, and the band now has more than $1,000 in the treasury, most of the money secured through engagements in the past two years."

Members of the advisory board said they felt they were conducting the affairs of the Boys' band in a manner which did not call for criticism or complaint from the auxiliary.

Answering reported complaints of the auxiliary, members of the board the band has been engaged to play here on Memorial Day, provisions had been made for alterations and exchanges of uniforms and everything possible was being done to have the boys turn out for rehearsals.

Until the band is taken over by another board or the auxiliary, rehearsanls will be held as usual.

The three men were tried and found guilty by two juries and all were released the latter part of last month by Judge DeWitt T. Gray, of the circuit court of Duval county, Florida. Now it is stated that the judge's action places the brutal murder of Mrs. McMillan in the class of unsolved crimes.

YOUTH PARKS WHEEL; ENDS HIS FLIGHT

Frederick — If Bernard Rohn, North Baltimore youth, who left his home Friday on his bicycle, had stopped to think that the "no parking" sign in front of Frederick police headquarters might apply to bicycles as well as four-wheeled vehicles, he might even now be on his way to Cumberland. But Bernard, who pedalled away from home after a disagreement with his father, was so intent on sending a telephone call to his mother Saturday that he stopped just in front of police headquarters, and without stopping to note where he was, went across the street to telephone. As a result, he was apprehended.

An "Epley Way" Car Wash Removes The Dirt Without Harm To The Paint Job!

IT makes no difference how often you have your car washed the "Epley Way"—we guarantee not to harm the paint job in the slightest manner. This is not only because we have the most modern car-washing equipment known, but primarily because our car washers know just the proper amount of pressure to use on chassis, body and glass—because they are trained to use this modern equipment at just that point of efficiency that will not mar the finish of the finest car.

And "knowing how" is just as important as the modern equipment. Uncontrolled, the newest Pressure Washing Equipment could practically remove the paint from your car. It costs no more to place your car in the hands of Epley Car Washers than it does to entrust it to unskilled hands not familiar with controlling powerful pressure washers.

Keep your car looking good by frequent washings—but for your finish's sake have it washed the "EPLEY WAY."

Murder at High Tide

By CHARLES G. BOOTH

SYNOPSIS: Who murdered Dan Parados? His symbol of luck, a jade phoenix, disappeared shortly before his death. Everyone on his lonely island estate is questioned. Motives are plentiful, for Parados was hated by all, but fruitful clews are few. Allan Hunt seeks some evidence on his own accounts. He finds a newspaper with oil stains on it,—perhaps from a gun. Claude Annersley had been seen with a similar paper, yet his alibi is good. Anatole Flique, a French detective, and Samuels, deputy attorney, seem baffled. On a rose Flique finds blood stains which are traced by a handkerchief to Grainger, a hired man. The detetcives wonder is Grainger is shielding Annersley.

Chapter 14

"TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN"

"You did a good job with that handkerchief," Samuels conceded. "I'll keep it, if you don't mind."

"I am the principal agent of la Surete," Flique answered. Let us proceed with our clews. That blackness on the carpet there—"

"Crude oil," Kirk informed us. "Somebody traipsed it in here."

"We'll check on that," Samuels grunted. "And then there's the phoenix."

"It is another of the little mysteries," Flique continued volubly. "And the price ticket for 35 cents in the dead hand of monsieur—that is yet another."

The little man beamed upon Samuels. "But we have our clews. Come, I shall be your inward eye, and you shall be the outward eye."

"Fair enough," Samuels grinned. "You might begin by telling us what brought you to San Lucas."

Flique chuckeld. "You have me there, my friend. I have been at the house three times during the past four months. It is an old story—25 years old. I speak of the robbery of the Banque du Midi. You do not remember that robbery. And why should you? You have them every hour. But in my France c'est different. We have our artists of the crime. Such were those little ones, Jules Lacote, Ciceron Bec, and le Balafre, The Scarred One."

Bec and le Balafre," Samuels muttered. "Those names sound familiar."

"Ah, you think of those desperate ones who escaped from l'Ile du Diable seven months ago. Those are the two. In June of 1904, those three robbed the Banque du Midi in Marseilles. A million francs was secured and a patron of the bank who attempted resistance was shot. That patron—a merchant of antiques, like M. Hunt—died the next day. I shall tell you about him. Well, those three got away. I was then attached to the Marseiles police—and I was directed to secure their apprehension.

"Soon I received an information concerning two of those three—Ciceron Bec and le Belafre. There was a combat, but those rascals were overcome and we took them away. But what of Juels Lacote? Messieurs, I cannot tell you.

"Well those canaille were sentenced to l'Ile du Diable, where France sends her little ones to repent of their sins. But of Lacote and that million francs we hear nothing since. But what has all this to do with Anatole Flique in the home of M. Parados?"

Flique paused dramatically; and then, "Messieurs, I am here because of that jade phoenix."

We could not have been more startled. Samuels shook his head.

"Where does that phoenix come in?" he demanded tersely.

Flique continued exuberantly cheerful again.

"It's an astonishing thing! That merchant of antiques recognized Jules Lacote, who shot him. Lacote, it seemed, had been intrigued by a piece of art in that merchant's shop and had bought it. You see? Must I tell monsieur what it was that Jules Lacote bought?"

"I guess you don't need to," Samuels muttered. "But it can't be the same phoenix."

"We shall see," and Flique shrugged. "But it is clear that this Lacote believed in the luck or he would not have spent a thousand francs on a trifle of jade."

"You have a description of this Jules Lacote?" Samuels asked.

"Oh, several," and Flique chuckled. "That he is tall and blond and that he is dark and hook-nosed; and that he is fat and the color of blood. Ah, those descriptions, M. le Deputy!" and Flique chuckled again. "What are they? The merchant of antiques died raving that he had been shot by a man to whom he had sold a phoenix of jade—that was all. Poor fellow!"

"But what about le Balafre and Bec?" Samuels persisted. "You must have got something out of them."

Flique smiled indulgently. "Monsieur does not understand. Le Balafre and Ciceron Bec are not given the sentence of death. Instead, they are to go to l'Ile du Diable until life is finished. Perhaps they will escape. And if they do their fingers will itch for what is left of those million francs, and they will burn like ten suns for the throat of that Jules Lacote. "Messieurs," Flique's voice became a whisper, "not for all the francs on earth would I be the betrayer of le Balafre and Ciceron Bec now they have escaped! And now, M. le Deputy, do you perceive why those little ones did not rescribe to me that infamous Lacote?"

I was glad I was not Jules Lacote.

"You've been chasing jade phoenixes ever since?" Samuels wanted to know.

"I have seen many of them, monsieur," Flique beamed.

"What brought you here?"

Flique had been waiting for the question. He drew forth a wallet and extracted from it a sheet of paper which he presented to Samuels. A clipping from the classified colums of a French newspaper was pasted to the sheet.

"I can't read French," Samuels said irritably.

"M. l'Antiquaire will translate," Flique murmured.

A typewritten legend indicated that the clipping had been cut from the Clarion du Matin, a Marseilles newspaper. I read the legend and then the clipping

"TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

"If you are looking for a jade phoenix that was bought in Marseilles 25 years ago, you may find it in the home of Mr. Dan Parados, San Lucas Island, California."

Flique beamed agreeably at us whilst we digested this information. Samuels took the paper stared at it, folded it slowly, and tucked it into a vest pocket.

"I'll keep this, if you don't mind," he said in a voice that had lost its timbre.

Did the French convicts slay Parados? What does this clipping mean? See tomorrow's chapter.

Facts and Figures!

Concerning

The Menges Family In Public Office

Note:—The facts and figures as set forth below and taken from public records and accounting sheets relate only to the present Menges family of that name, and do not include the "in-laws" of the Menges family who are now or who have recently swelled their bank accounts with public funds as a result of patronage, or "positions," given them, both in York and Adams counties, by the "House of Menges."

FRANKLIN MENGES is just completing three terms of two years each as congressman from the Adams-York district. His salary is $10,000 a year. Total, six years $60,000.00

*MISS MARY MENGES, daughter of Franklin Menges, acts as his secretary and office assistant in Washington for which the federal government appropriates $5,000 a year for her, and other secretarial purposes. Total, six years 30,000.00

WILLIAM H. MENGES is county controller of York county. His salary is $3,500 a year. Total, eight years 28,000.00

MISS GERTRUDE MENGES, his daughter, his office assistant about five and one-half years, at $1,200 a year. Total 6,600.00

JONAS H. MENGES is sheriff of York county. His salary is $4,000 a year. Total, four years 16,000.00

HARRY MENGES, his son, is deputy sheriff of York county and receives a salary of $2,000 a year. Total, four years 8,000.00

TOTAL AMOUNT OF PUBLIC FUNDS RECEIVED BY MEMBERS OF THE MENGES FAMILY DURING THEIR PRESENT TERMS OF OFFICE $136,600.00

*Any amount of this $5,000.00 a year that is not actually paid to Miss Mary Menges as secretary's salary is retained by the Congressman for "office expenses." The entire amount accrues to him or his daughter.

Not a single concrete accomplishment of any consequence has been credited to Congressman Menges for Adams county during his entire career of six years in Congress from the York-Adams district. In striking contrast, he has sat silently by and permitted the postal service in Gettysburg and other parts of Adams county to be seriously curtailed, and has been the cause of outstanding dissention in various postoffices which has had a demoralizing effect on the postal service.

Though posing as a "dirt farmer" himself and promising, on the eve of every campaign for re-election, relief for the farmers of his district, Mr. Menges has not accomplished a single thing in this respect, as York and Adams county farmers well know as a result of their continued struggle to eke out an existence, and especially in meeting the continued rapidly increasing tax burden.

On the eve of this election, Congressman Menges is promising York city and York county boroughs and townships elaborate federal appropriations for "this and that" which he knows deep down in his heart he cannot possibly obtain. York newspapers know his promises are empty ones, yet they herald his propaganda in the news columns without comment.

Congressman Menges is living up to his alleged expression to a group of Republican women at the Arendtsville Fair to the effect, in substance: "Adams county be damned." He can get along without Adams county and its votes! So be it.

THE FACTS AND FIGURES contained in this display advertisement have been gathered from public records by a committee of leading Adams county citizens, compiled in this form and presented in this newspaper as paid-in-advance display advertisement for the information of Republican voters and for their consideration before the primary election, May 20, in which Congressman Menges asks a fourth term and

$30,000 More of PUBLIC MONEY For HIMSELF and DAUGHTER

Congressman Menges' opponent in the Republican primary, Edward S. Brooks, of York, is not in any manner responsible for the publication of this advertisement.

Committee Opposed to Menges for Congress

Republicans who feel that it is high time to emphasize the slogan: "DOWN WITH THE HOUSE OF MENGES" can help bring this to pass by going to the polls Tuesday, May 20, and voting for EDWARD S. BROOKS as their party nominee for congress.

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Local Items: The "Southern Tier Band" are arranging to purchase new uniforms.

On Ascension Day the Abbottstown Cornet Band entertained the citizens of Hampton with good music.

W. H. Tipton his put a large and attractive sign over his photographic gallery.

A. L. Heikes has been appointed to a conductorship on the Pine Grove Railroad.

Henry W. Swartz, of New Oxford, has been appointed by the Governor, Sealer of Weights and Measures.

The two side-altars in Conewago Chapel have been repainted in imitation of marble by a Baltimore artist, and various other improvements made in the church.

Mr. Codori is tearing down the old frame building on Baltimore street, opposite the Presbyterian church for many years occupied as a saddler shop by David McCreary.

The action of the Town Council in the matter of pavements is producing good results. Piles of brick and sand at various places indicate preparations for paving.

The Senior class of the Hagerstown Ladies' Female Seminary, under charge of the Rev. Mr. Keedy, visited Gettysburg on Tuesday, remaining a day or two. Their primary object was to utilize the College Observatory in star-gazing; but being here made good use of their time in sight-seeing.

The concert in McClellan's Opera House, for benefit of the Rev. Joseph Armstrong, netted $9 after paying expenses, which amount was paid over to Mr. A. by the committee.

Hot: The weather has been phenomenal thus far. With a changing temperature running through March and April, alternately mild and cool, we had an unusually late spring. Summer now leaps suddenly into the lap of spring. On Sunday afternoon the mercur yregistered 94 degrees in the shade and on Monday 93 degrees.

The Compiler is disappointed over the harmony which characterized the recent meeting of the Republican county committee. It expected a row, and being disoppointed thinks the action of the committee "tame and unsatisfactory." Of course.

Shields and Musselman, Fairfield, having been to the city and having bought goods at low prices are able to sell to their customers at old prices. Call and be convinced.

Missionary Meeting: Mrs. Prof. Stuckenburg, of Springfield, Ohio and Miss Dengler, of Pottsville, will speak in Christ church, this place on Thursday night on missions. Mrs. Stuckenburg is President of the Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society of the Lutheran church, which aims by the organization of auxiliary societies to bring tre women of the church into active co-operation with Foreign Mission work. She is a lady of culture, and our people will be glad to hear her. The meeting will be public, open to all.

Decoration Day: Decoration Day is rapidly approaching, and the committee of Corporal Skelly Post are perfecting their arrangements, which will be announced next week. Meanwhile we remind the ladies of town an dcounty that local contributions of flowers will be needed and gratefully accepted by the Post.

Artesian Well: We understand that the Town Council have been negotiating with Messrs. Miller and Powers in regard to sinking an artesian well, to secure a supply of water for the borough, especially for the extinguishment of fires. The negotiations have been mainly with a view of ascertaining the probable cost. The council would not assume the responsibility of incurriing the debt necessary to complete the work without the approval of property holders and tax payers; and to secure intelligent action there must be full data as to the probable cost. If a sufficient flow of water can be obtained at a depth of 400 feet, the cost of the well will be in the neighborhood of $1400 or $1500, the cost increasing with the depth. The well, however, would only be the first step, and useless in itself. To utilize the water, laying pipes through the town would be requisite, with reservoirs or cisterns along the streets at convenient points, and this followed by the purchase of steam engines. We assume that the Town Council before moving in the matter will be able to figure approximately at least the probable cost of all this.

Lectures: The Rev. S. A. Holman, of Philadelphia, will deliver the annual "Holman Lecture on the Augsburg Confession" in the Seminary Chapel today. Mr. Holman is the gentleman who founded the lectureship.

The Rev. Dr. Albert, of Germantown, will deliver the annual Rice Lecture on "Methods in Ministerial Work" in the Seminary Chapel next Tuesday morning.

Fairfield Items: The resolutions passed by the Republican County Committee appear to give entire satisfaction in this vicinity. There is a Grant boom in this section.

Mr. John Gelbach is further improving his property in town by putting up a smoke house, corn house and hog pen, to follow with a stable and slaughter house.

That unwelcome visitor, the Potato Beetle, has put in his appearance, to the dissatisfaction of all growers of that excellent vegetable.

Tte sick and disabled are all becoming convalescent.

Friday week Henry Herbst made a narrow escape from serious injury while hauling logs from the mountain above Cashtown. The wagon upset, throwing the saddle horse and off horse upon him, his left leg bein caught under the first and bearing the weight of horses until help came. His leg was temporarily paralyzed, but no bones broken.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Cory

I'm awfully glad the Carrot City
Zoo
Isn't way out in Kalamazoo,
For then we would have to take a train
And an umbrella in case it should rain.
But since it is out in Carrot Town,
We can motor there in a taxi brown,
Or an aeroplane high above the dell,
Or a trolley car with a clanging
bell.
So, boys and girls, it's up to us
To be in time for the big Circus.

Goodness me! There goes "Remmy," my faithful typewriter friend, into poetry. This time he has not neglected to print the rhymes in nice verse form. Well, I declare. I wonder why he's feeling that way? Perhaps it's because I bought a brand new ribbo for his spring hat!

Goodness me! again, for did I not just say it? I must tell you where Little Jack Rabbit is. Yes, indeedy—that's why I'm writing this story. Come to think of it, I must not digress, which means to wander off sideways—but must chronicle the doings of our little rabbit hero.

Well, he is still where we left him in the last story—at Uncle Lucky's circus, which is playing to big crowds in Carrot City.

"Come, Tootsie," the little rabbit was saying to the Pigmy Hippopotamus, holding out a lollypop, "come, Tootsie." But nothing would induce that little Hippo to leave her baby. She just kept it close to her side and never uttered a sound, not a "Pleased to meet you!" "How's your mother?" "Folks all well?"

Meantime, however, Photographer Crane was busy. In a twinkle he set up his camera and before anyone could say "Winky Pinky" that clever artist bird had snapped a lovely picture of the Pigmy Hippopotamus and her baby Hippo.

"Ha, ha!" laughed the little rabbit, "I've got something to tell Granddaddy Bullfrog when I see him. Mrs. Tootsie Hippopotamus' face looks just like a frog's. Ha, ha! and if her ptciure appears in the Bunnybridge Bugle, I'll show it to Granddaddy Bullfrog."

"Hope the one I took comes out all right," sighed Photographer Crane.

"Take another to make sure," whispered the little bunny. And the old Crane did, although Mrs. Tootsie Hippopotamus yawned right in his face.

"Goodness gracious, what a yawn! It looks like a cavern deep.

I'd hate to be walking in the dark
If she were fast asleep.
For I imagine her mouth's agap
When sound asleep in her pink night cap.
Just think if I stumbled in by mistake
And she dreamed I was frosted angel cake," sang a big Horse Fly.

"Please repeat that beautiful poetry," cried Professor Jim Crow, who appened by at that moment.

"Whene'er I hear a ditty,
That is musical and pretty,—
A bit of rhyme or story,
Eddie Guest or David Cory,
I write in my Wisdom Booky,
In case my Memory plays hooky."

Just Folks

By Edgar A. Guest

EVERY BOY'S CHANCE

The night school swings its doors
for all,
Nearby the libraries are.
Who will, has knowledge at his call,
Nor need he travel far.
Not much for wisdom need he pay,
However poor the lad,
He has a better chance today
Than Lincoln ever had.

However lowly born he seems,
A richer child is he
Than Lincoln with his youthful dreams
Who read beneath a tree.
However poor the circumstance
Which hedges him around,
Life offers him a better chance
Than Abraham Lincoln found.

Oh boy, if courage you possess
And have the will to learn,
No one can keep you from success,
From book to book you'll turn.
No library shelf to you is barred,
No school denied to you,
Your battle cannot be as hard
As that which Lincoln knew.

Who has the will to understand,
Will find wise teachers near,
The poorest urchin in the land
Has but himself to fear,
For 'spite of humble circumstance
And fate and fortune sad,
Today gives boys a better chance
Than Lincoln ever had.

COLD WAVE'S HOUSE

By Mary Graham Bonner

"I shouldn't think that the Cold Wave would want to live in a house," said John.

"You won't be quite so surprised when you see the sort of a house in which he lives," the Little Black Clock answered.

So the wintry looking gentleman, whose name was Snowy Blasts, and the Little Black Clock and John and Peggy went in the direction from which the Cold Wave had called out to them.

His house was quite the queerest thing the children had ever seen. It had no roof to it and it had no walls. It had no doors and it had no windows. It fact it wasn't what any one else would call a house at all. It was merely a patch of snowy land over which the wind was blowing wildly. Cold Wave looked cold and every time he spoke the air seemed to grow colder.

"They were all expecting me to continue with my travels and reach your part of the country," Cold Wave said. "But I just decided to change my mind, and play a trick on them. So I came off here to my home. So I simly disappeared as far as they were concerned, and now they'll all have to say that the Cold Wave was expected but turned aside before reaching them."

The Cold Wave seemed to think it was an excellent joke.

"Do you friends want any refreshments?" he asked the Little Black Clock.

"They might like some icicle soup or some snow pudding?"

"I'm afraid we can't stop for refreshments as we must be going back soon," the Little Black Clock answered. "But I did want the children to meet you."

"Well, sorry you must be going," the Cold Wave answeerd, "but don't forget about me, John and Peggy. I'll bring you some good skating weather next winter. You'll see!"

And now he had left his "house" as he called it while John and Peggy, the Little Black Clock and Snowy Blasts drove back home.

"SightSeeing."

MOTHERS ARE LEARNING USES OF MAGNESIA

From the beginning of expectancy until baby is weaned. That's the time Phillips Milk of Magnesia performs the greatest service for many women.

It relieves the expectant mother's nausea, heartburn, "morning sickness," inclination to vomit; helps her digestion. Its mild but effective laxative action assures regular bowel movement.

Phillips Milk of Magnesia is better than lime water for neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding. A teaspoonful of it does the work of a half pint of lime water. It is a mild laxative; harmless, almost tasteless.

All drug stores have Phillips Milk of Magnesia in generous 25c and 50c bottles. Always insist on the genuine, endorsed by physicians for 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of the Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875.

FREE: to young mothers and prospective mothers; "Useful Information," an invaluable little book on the health of mother and child. Write the Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York, N. Y. It will be sent absolutely free of charge.

Arendtsville School Exercises On May 21

The Arendtsville Vocational high school will hold its annual commencement exercises May 21 in the high school auditorium.

The Rev. Walter Traub, York, will deliver the commencement address. Class Day has been discontinued.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached by the Rev. Ernest Brindle in the Reformed church, Arendtsville, May 18.

STOCK REPORT

New York, May 12 (AP).—The stock market appeared to lack conviction as to its position at the beginning of the new week. Trading was extremely dull. There were sporadic efforts to push prices higher, meating moderate success in a few issues, but there was a distinct tendency to take quick profits on advances.

"NEW KONJOLA MADE A WELL MAN OF ME!"

Man, Relieved, Tells How Modern Medicine Helped Him Regain Health After 'Flu' Attack.

MR. JOHN BURGER

"A severe attack of influenza left me in a bad shape," said Mr. John Burger, 546 East Sixth Street, Erie. "My whole body ached and pained—terrible cramps gripped my muscles, and every joint in my body was stiff. My head was congested all the time. I had to quit work several times because of gas pains, and I was subject to nasty and embarrassing belching spells. My whole system was run down.

"Konjola brought about a marvelous change. Today I feel like a young man, and I know it is because of Konjola. I never miss a day's work anymore, and all those former pains and aches have been driven from my body. My appetite is normal, and I never suffer from gas pains or belching spells. Konjola is a wonderful medicine, and I can easily understand why it is called the medicine with a million friends."

Konjola is not a "cure-all"—there is no such thing, but when taken for from six to eight weeks will produce amazing results. The thousands of endorsements of Konjola prove that it makes good in even the most stubborn cases.

Konjola is sold in Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, at Murphy's Cut Rate drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

SAVE PENNSYLVANIA FROM THE VARE GANG

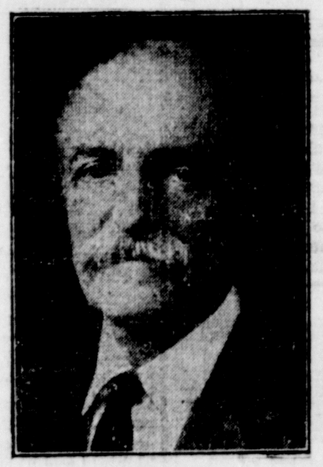

Election of the Vare candidate for Governor—Francis Shunk Brown—would:

Put the State Government in control of the Gang which has saddled a $600,000,000 debt on Philadelphia.

Put Control of the State's road-building contracts in the hands of the Gang which has made millions out of Philadelphia's municipal contracts.

Put the State's employees and thousands of school teachers under the rule of the Gang which has used Philadelphia's city and county employees for political purposes and forced them to pay the upkeep of the Vare machine.

Put the State taxing power in the hands of the Gang which has spent millions of Philadelphia's money for favored corporations—including the Pennsylvania R. R. and the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co.—at the expense of the small taxpayers.

GIFFORD PINCHOT

Everybody knows Pinchot made a good Governor.

Everybody knows where he stands on every issue.

During his four years as Governor he gave the Miners, the Farmers, the Workers in factories and offices, the Women and Children, a Roosevelt square deal.

Everybody knows that he will keep his pledges if re-elected.

Election of Gifford Pinchot as Governor will open the way for him to:

Abolish the Public Service Commission which has given the public utilities a strangle hold on the people in every community of the State.

Create a Fair Rate Board which will stand between the people and the utilities and maintain fair rates for electricity, gas, water and street railway service.

Put new laws on the Statute Books to end the election thefts of the political gangs in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, or elsewhere.

Revise the State tax laws and lift the burden from those who can little afford to bear it and place it on those who can.

Improve the State's machinery for finding jobs for the jobless.

Keep the State's employees and the public school system out of politics and free from political assessments.

Pinchot Is Unbossed---He Doesn't Straddle on Any Question

The Miners and Millworkers Know

Pinchot will abolish the Coal and Iron Police and prevent unfair use of labor injunctions. They know he cleaned the thugs out of the Coal and Iron Police in his first term. They know he will not stand for any infringement of the workers' rights.

The Farmers and Motorists Know

Pinchot will spend every penny available on new roads. In his first term he built more roads than any Governor in Pennsylvania's history and without a breath of scandal. He is ready to repeat what he did before.

He stands pledged also to reduce the motor drivers' license fee to $1, and cut $5 off every automobile license.

Pinchot will keep the money for Hunting and Fishing Licenses where it belongs

Pinchot Is for the Prohibition Amendment as the Safeguard of Pennsylvania's Homes

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEWS ADAMS

THE LOVE YOU LIBERATE

IF you do not love your work there is no plainer fact in this world than this—you can't keep it long.

Liberate your love and it enters into everything you do. It enlarges your soul and strengthens your body.

And the love you liberate is the only love that ever comes back to you. You can't get anything without giving something.

I have never met an unhappy giver.

We have to do a great many unpleasant things in this world. But if we do them in the spirit of good sports I notice that they aren't so unpleasant after all. This love business, you see, works overtime and doesn't mind.

The love you liberate breeds greater love everywhere it goes. It's contagious. In the long run it travels around the world.

If you are working for a concern and you try merely to "just get by," your job itself shrinks and you with it. Success then scampers to the fellow above or below you who puts his heart in his work and so climbs!

Life is a vast business. A part of it is given over to making people happy, and a part to the making of money, building ships, buildings, bridges, and babies' toys. All these pursuits are useful and valuable. But love is the salt that savors the whole and drives away the mists that the sun may shine and warm.

Love is the greatest thing in the world and the most important ingredient that enters into life and work.

Liberate your love. Spread it out. Keep giving it away. Don't mind if you overflow with it abroad. If there is damage done it is easily repaired!

GEO. D. SHEELY'S RECORD STANDS FOR THE PRIMARY

New Oxford Representative At Harrisburg Sets Forth His Accomplishments.

ASKS NOMINATION OF REPUBLICANS

In asking the Republican Party of Adams County for the privilege of bearing the Legislative Banner through another campaign, I do so with an intense feeling of loyalty and devotion.

Finding that it will be impossible for me to see many of the voters personally before the Primary Election on May 20th, I take the opportunity of speaking to them through the columns of the Press.

During the 1929 Session of the General Assembly I opposed all legislation which tended to weaken our Sabbath and Temperance Laws, and certainly shall maintain the same position as long as I am permitted to sit in our legislative bodies, as I have have always been a strong advocate of law enforcement.

I also opposed the increase in driver's license and registration fees, and will use my influenice to restore the former to its original rate and with some possible exemptions. I supported the increase in gasoline tax, against my own convictions, but after all this has proven a wise piece of legislation, as the price of gasoline to the consumer dropped one cent a gallon on July first, 1929, when said increase became effective, in other words the manufacturers indirectly paid this additional tax. I stand heartily in favor of all gasoline tax monies being collected from the wholesale distributor in place of from the retailer as at present.

I introduced and seconded the passage and approval by the Governor of the following measures: A Bill granting an increase (above the amount to which it was entitled according to existing records) in the appropriation to the Annie M. Warner Hospital. This was accomplished when some of our neighboring hospitals were cut in their appropriations.

The Cedar Rust Bill which provides for the payment of the State for 70 per cent of the value of cedars cut upon the orders of the Department of Agriculture in its efforts to control the disease known as cedar rust on fruit.

The Summer White House Bill, which authorizes the Governor to make an offer of Pennsylvania Forest Lands to Federal Government for the purpose of erecting thereon a Summer Home for the Presidents of the United States. These measures were secured without the aid of our Senator, who unfortunately was absent on account of illness during the greater part the Session.

I also introduced a Joint Resolution, which would eventually lead to the exemption from gasoline tax, such gasoline as is used in the operation of the farms. In order to achieve this result it will require a Constitutional amendment, the submission of which this resolution called for. The resolution passed the House, but was held in Senate Committee during the closing rush of the Session. If returned to the 1931 Session I feel confident of securing its passage, and approval by the Governor.

In connection with the above legislative record obtained by one serving his first term, I have also ever been ready to respond to the call of my constituency, and upon ninety-two different occasions I have answered such calls which carried me many times to Harrisburg, Washington, Chambersburg and various points in Adams County, all of which realized such results that leads to the question (with all due regard to my predecessors) Has similar service ever been rendered by a Representative from this county?

I am quite proud to stand on the above record and entrust my candidacy to the judgment of the Republican voters, feeling confident of receiving their fair consideration of same, for which I shall be very grateful.

MARY PICKFORD and DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

"Taming of the Shrew"

United Artist All Talking Laughing Picture

It unfolds the cyclonic romance of Katherine the Shrew and Petrucio the Shrewd, of how she was "wooed, wedded and bedded, and the house rid of her," and of how, subsequently, the "Devil's Dam" was made over into a meek mouse, to an accompaniment of the craziest love-making in the whole history of Literature.

As Katherine the cut-up, and as Petruchio, the swashbuckler, Miss Pickford and Mr. Fairbanks have found their most brilliant roles, and their co-appearance, for the first time, in this dazzling comedy, marks an event of unparalleled importance to everyone, offering, as it does, the finest in motion picture entertainment. You'll enthuse about it for weeks.

HEALTH TALK

"Less than a month ago a man of middle age was boastfully discussing his personal methods of keeping healthy. Said he, 'I was fortunate enough to emerge unscathed from the front-line trenches. The outdoor life and discipline had given me a sense of well-being that up to then I didn't know existed. And I determined to keep it. Fresh air, food in moderation, sufficient sleep and exercise have been my daily practice ever since.' Nevertheless, his funeral took place yesterday," said Doctor Theodore B. Appel, secretary of health, today.

"Needless to say, there was nothing in his health program that caused his premature demise. Quite on the contrary, the logical concern for his body's welfare had resulted in a superb physical condition. And that, in turn, made it possible for him to enjoy life to the fullest extent. The thing that killed him was a 'trivial wound.' In fact, it was nothing more than a scratch—a matter of such absurd unimportance to him that a second thought was not given to it. Yet it became infected and finally laid him low.

Trivial Dangerous

"The moral of this story is obvious. When the possibility of infection arises, the 'trivial' should immediately assume an importance far beyond the physical injury itself. Insect bites, scratches, cuts and slight burns should never go unattended. Hundreds of lives are lost each year simply because a tiny break in the skin is considered to be beneath contempt.

"In industry alone, according to figures recently compiled by the National Safety council, illness directly traceable to carelessness of this type annually results in the development of more than a quarter million of cases, with a cost of $104,000,000 to industry and the loss of four and one-half million weeks' time!

"It follows that when it comes to cuts, bites and scratches, there is no such term as 'trivial.' Certainly one does not need to become unduly frightened over a slight abrasion of the skin. On the other hand, the prompt application of an approved antiseptic is invariably indicated. Therefore, while paying special attention to the cardinal health factors, do not minimize the importance of caring for the little ones also.

"Life is indeed a sweet experience. But one must live wholesomely, healthily and intelligently to appreciate it at its best. And this rule includes wise attention to such 'trivial' things as skin abrasions. Remember, infection is a ruthless thing. Don't let it get a chance at you."
